

INTRODUCTORY OPEN SOURCE INTELLIGENCE (OSINT) EXPLOITATION COURSE

WEDNESDAY MARCH 20, 2019 . TIME: 0830 - 1200
LOCATION: INGLEWOOD, CA

Taught by Former USMC Ground Intelligence Officer, Targeting Officer, & Scout Sniper Platoon Commander

This course identifies and demonstrates numerous free online resources that can aid internet researchers in solving both technical and non-technical investigations. Participants will be shown how to "dig" into the internet for personal information about any target. While popular social media sites are covered in detail (including techniques that legally access some "hidden" content), the presentation goes much deeper into the vast resources available online for researching information. Additionally, instructions for identifying local events in real time will be presented in great detail. This course focuses on the most popular social networks and proper retrieval of located information. These sources can also be used to conduct thorough background checks on potential employees. All resources can be applied to domestic and international investigations.
